doors to the cell, one of iron and the from the Oceana county fruit, peaches, other of wood, through which a few holes were bored in order to allow ven-tilation. Within this room of granite and iron one cannot see his hand bethe face, the occupant having to move about by the sense of feeling.
Into this living tomb he will remain
some time. The board of prison inspectors will, at the next meeting, take mittion in regard to the final disposition of the man.

Convicts Huntly and Davis, who were shot while attempting to escape, are still alive, but cannot recover. Davis' wound where the bullet entered hi thigh has healed, while the hole made by the exit of the ball remains open, from which pus is discharged daily. His case is considered hopeless from the fact that it is impossible to set the shattered thigh bone. Huntly's in-juries are the most severe of the two, but are of such a nature that it is pos-sible to treat them. The holes in his body which were made by bullets and bones remain open

The attorneys of Charles Wright, a lifer, have just decided to take his case to the United States supreme court. Wright came from Benzie county two and one-half years ago. He was a member of the H. W. Wright Lumber company, and is worth nearly $100,000. His case has been through the Michigan courts, and the legal expenses so far have been $15,000. His crime was shooting two officers at Aral, Benzie county, while attaching a quantity of logs, and he got a life sentence.

Hanged Herself. FLINT, Sept. 20.-Agatha Seabriskie, a patient at the Oak Grove Sanitarium, went to her room for the purpose of taking a bath. Her attendant followed soon after, and upon entering the room found Mrs. Seabriskie hanging to the door hinge, to which she had fast-ened a piece of dress cord, and fasten-ing the other half about her neck, had boked herself to death. Mrs. Seabriskie was 64 years old, was considered a harmless person and was a favorite among the inmates and em-ployes of the institution.

Another Brute Doctor.

Fenton, Sept. 20.—A traveling medi-cal man named J. J. P. Marsh is want-ed here for a serious crime, alleged to have been committed last week. He became a boarder at the bome of Mrs. E. O. Dwyer, and numbered among his patients a simple-minded woman named Sarah Ann Potter, who was also boarding at the same house. Under the pretext of making a medical examination he committed a felonious assault and threatened to kill her if she disclosed the crime.
